

Thursday, 7 June from 6:15 pm - 8:30 pm

Working Harbor Committee Presents:

BROOKLYN WATERFRONT PAST & PRESENT

Guest Speakers: Capt. Maggie Flanagan, WHC & Waterfront Alliance Bill Miller, renowned maritime historian & author
www.billmilleratsea.com

For Tickets
Click Here

Tickets
$35 Adult
$30 Senior

Above photo © Phyllis Featherstone

Above two photos © Mitch Waxman

Tour 8 miles of Brooklyn's waterfront industry-past and present- from Newtown Creek to Sunset Park

From Newtown Creek through Sunset park, the 8 miles of Brooklyn shore facing the Harbor's Upper Bay were once filled with manufacturing, shipping, and commerce. Though apartment towers and landscaped parks now capture attention, Brooklyn still retains active trade and maritime business.

Join Working Harbor Committee for a tour of Brooklyn waterfront industry, past and present. Highlights include Brooklyn Navy Yard, the city's new waterfront recycling facility at Gowanus Bay, and the working rail-to-barge connection at Brooklyn Army Terminal.

The fully narrated boat tour departs at 6:15pm sharp. Check-in begins at 5:45 pm from NY Waterway pier 79 located at W. 39th St. & 12th Ave in Manhattan. Snack bar on board. Tickets: $35; $30 seniors. For group sale rates, email: workingharbor@aol.com

The mission of the Working Harbor Committee is to strengthen awareness of the working harbor's history and vitality today, and its opportunities for the future. WHC produces maritime educational programs and boat tours, as well as community events such as the annual Great North River Tugboat Race

For more information about tickets & additional tours, visit workingharbor.org

Working Harbor Committee

Thanks to NY Waterway for their generous support of our Hidden Harbor Tours® www.nywaterway.com