Do you know where Heineken and Amstel Light come into New York, or where Macy's loaded 40,000 shells onto four barges for the July 4 fireworks spectacular?

Brooklyn!

On this insider's tour of the Brooklyn waterfront, you will:

- · Visit the Brooklyn Navy Yard,
- · Learn all about Brooklyn Bridge Park
- · See the home of Phoenix Beverages (the folks that import those Heinekens)
- · See the Red Hook Container and Cruise Ship Terminals
- Explore Erie Basin (home to the fireworks barges)
- Travel along the historic Sunset Park and South Brooklyn waterfront where intermodal shipping was born, where Elvis shipped out for his military service, and where many new maritime uses are being developed
- · See tugs, barges and container ships at work
- Get a great photo-op view of the Statue of Liberty and the Manhattan skyline
- · And much more.

Back by Popular Demand: Guest Narrator Dan Wiley

Dan Wiley, a Community Coordinator for Congresswoman Nydia Velázquez in southwest Brooklyn, is a passionate speaker with an encyclopedic knowledge of the Brooklyn waterfront. He has worked as a part-time Adjunct Assistant Professor at Columbia University in the graduate urban design studio. As a member of the Congressional office, he has coordinated planning projects and initiatives spanning waterfront communities from the Brooklyn Navy Yard and downtown Brooklyn southwest through Red Hook, Gowanus and Sunset Park, Brooklyn. Dan will talk about the changing face of the Brooklyn waterfront and plans for future developments and take questions from the audience.
